

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
DISTRICT OF MINNESOTA

United States of America,

Crim. No. 11-228 (MJD/JJK)

Plaintiff,

v.

3. Patrick Joseph Kiley,
also known as Pat Kiley;

ORDER AND REPORT AND RECOMMENDATION

Defendants.

Tracy L. Perzel, Esq., and David J. MacLaughlin, Esq., Assistant United States Attorneys, counsel for Plaintiff.

David E. Zins, Esq., Attorney at Law, and H. Nasif Mahmoud, Esq., McKenzie, Wilkes & Mahmoud, counsel for Defendant Kiley.

This action came on for hearing before the Court on October 17, 2011, at the U.S. Courthouse, 316 North Robert Street, St. Paul, MN 55101, on Defendant Kiley's various pre-trial motions. Based on the file and documents contained herein, along with the memoranda and arguments of counsel, the Court makes the following Order:

1. Defendant Kiley's Motion to Dismiss. Defendant Kiley moves to dismiss the Indictment, asserting that the Government cannot prove the elements necessary to find Defendant guilty of the charges asserted against him. (Doc. Nos. 93, 94.). Defendant asserts that there is no evidence to support the allegations made against him, and argues in length as to why Defendant Kiley rebuts the charges. The Government opposes the motion.

Federal Rule of Criminal Procedure 7 requires an indictment to “be a plain, concise, and definite written statement of the essential facts constituting the offense charged For each count, the indictment must give the official or customary citation of the statute, rule, regulation, or other provision of law that the defendant is alleged to have violated.” Fed. R. Crim. P. 7(c)(1).

An indictment is legally sufficient on its face if it contains all of the essential elements of the offense charged, fairly informs the defendant of the charges against which he must defend, and alleges sufficient information to allow a defendant to plead a conviction or acquittal as a bar to a subsequent prosecution. An indictment will ordinarily be held sufficient unless it is so defective that it cannot be said, by any reasonable construction, to charge the offense for which the defendant was convicted.

United States v. Carter, 270 F.3d 731, 736 (8th Cir. 2001) (citations omitted).

Defendant Kiley is not challenging the validity of the Indictment on its face. Instead, Defendant raises fact disputes regarding whether Defendant is guilty of the counts alleged, and therefore argues that the charges in the Indictment are not supported by adequate evidence. It is well established that insufficient evidence is not a basis for dismissal of a facially valid indictment. See Costello v. United States, 350 U.S. 359, 363–64 (1956); United States v. Nelson, 165 F.3d 1180, 1182 (8th Cir. 1999) (“It has long been settled that an indictment is not open to challenge on the ground that there was inadequate or insufficient evidence before the grand jury.”). Therefore, this Court RECOMMENDS that Defendant Kiley’s Motion to Dismiss (Doc. No. 93), be DENIED.

2. Defendant Kiley’s Motion to Suppress Statements of Patrick J. Kiley. Defendant Kiley moves to suppress his statements on the grounds that the statements were made without the assistance of counsel in violation of Defendant’s Fifth and Sixth Amendment rights, and were not given freely or voluntarily, therefore violating the Fourth and Fifth Amendments to the Constitution. The Government opposes this motion. Specifically, the Government asserts that Defendant Kiley did not make any statements while in custody or pursuant to questioning while represented by counsel. At the hearing, no testimony was provided on the issue. However, the Government submitted as an exhibit an August 1, 2011 letter from AUSA Tracy Perzel to Defendant’s counsel Mr. Zins, which attaches the FBI 302s memorializing Mr. Kiley’s interactions and comments made to law enforcement investigators, to which there was no objection. (Hr’g Ex. 1.) Defendant Kiley did not present any additional evidence—aside from his boilerplate allegations—in support of suppression.

“It is well established that the burdens of production and persuasion generally rest upon the movant in a suppression hearing.” United States v. Starks, 193 F.R.D. 624, 629 (D. Minn. 2000) (quoting United States v. de la Fuente, 548 F.2d 528, 533 (5th Cir. 1977), cert. denied, 431 U.S. 932 (1977)); see also United States v. Phillips, 540 F.2d 319, 325–26 (8th Cir. 1976) (stating that the ultimate burden of proof is on the defendant who seeks to suppress evidence). “At a minimum, it is defendant’s burden to come forth with some evidence and argument to support his position that evidence . . . should be suppressed.” United States v. Rosetter, Crim. No. 10-83 (JNE/JSM), 2010 WL 5184991, at *23 (D. Minn. Oct. 1, 2010) (citing Starks, 193 F.R.D. at 629); see also Starks, 193 F.R.D. at 628 (“[E]ven in those circumstances where the Government has the ultimate burden of persuasion, Defendant has the initial burden of making a prima facie showing of illegality.”). And “[f]ailure to provide the Court with any support for the motion is a sufficient basis for denial of the motion.” Rosetter, 2010 WL 5184991, at *23. Defendant Kiley has not met his burden. Accordingly, this Court concludes that there were no constitutional violations, and RECOMMENDS that Defendant Kiley’s Motion to Suppress Statements of Patrick J. Kiley (Doc. No. 95), be DENIED.

3. Defendant Kiley’s Motion for Disclosure of 404(b) Evidence and Material. Defendant Kiley moves for disclosure of evidence of “bad acts” or “similar course of conduct” evidence it intends to offer at trial pursuant to Fed. R. Evid. 404. The Government states that it has no objection to disclosing its Rule 404(b) evidence in advance of trial, and recommends that, consistent with the Orders issued as to Co-Defendants in this case, such disclosures should be ordered to be made at least thirty days before trial. Defendant Kiley’s Motion for Disclosure of 404(b) Evidence and Material (Doc. No. 96), is GRANTED as further stated herein. The Government shall disclose evidence encompassed by Rule 404(b) as soon as practicable after the Government has determined to use such evidence, but no less than thirty days before trial, and in accordance with all rules and statutes. Whether particular evidence is admissible is a matter properly determined in the context of trial.

4. Defendant Kiley's Motion to Disclose Evidence Favorable to the Defendant. Defendant Kiley moves the Court for an order compelling the attorney for the Government to disclose evidence favorable to the Defendant. The Government asserts that it understands and has complied with its discovery obligations under Brady v. Maryland, 373 U.S. 83 (1963), and its progeny. Defendant Kiley's Motion to Disclose Evidence Favorable to the Defendant (Doc. No. 97), is GRANTED to the extent that the Government shall continue to provide information as required by the rules and pursuant to Brady, Giglio, and their progeny, but DENIED to the extent that the Jencks Act protects disclosure.

5. Defendant Kiley's Motion for Discovery. Defendant Kiley seeks an order pursuant to Fed. R. Crim. P. 16 requiring the Government to disclose all written, recorded, or oral statements made by Defendant, and Defendant's prior record. In addition, Defendant asks for copies of certain objects, including photographs, which are material to the preparation of the defense or are intended for use by the Government as evidence at trial, or were obtained from or belonged to Defendant, and for copies of the results or reports of any physical or mental examinations and scientific tests or experiments. The Government does not oppose the motion to the extent it is consistent with Rule 16. Therefore,

Defendant Kiley's Motion for Discovery (Doc. No. 98), is GRANTED to the extent that it conforms to the scope of Rule 16, and the Government should continue to disclose evidence as required by the rules and pursuant to Brady v. Maryland, 373 U.S. 83 (1963), and as subsequently delineated in the case law, including limitations upon the Government's obligation. Identification of witnesses and exhibits shall be done in accordance with the District Court's pretrial order on disclosure of witness and exhibit lists. Expert witness information shall be disclosed at least thirty days prior to trial. Rebuttal witness information shall be disclosed at least fourteen days prior to trial.

6. Defendant Kiley's Motion for Disclosure of Jencks Material.

Defendant Kiley moves for an order requiring the Government's early compliance with the Jencks Act, specifically requesting disclosure prior to the commencement of the trial. The Jencks Act generally provides that the Government may not be compelled to disclose witness statements and reports prior to presentation of the witness' testimony at trial. The Government represents that it intends voluntarily to make Jencks Act material available to Defendant three days prior to trial, and that it will inquire of defense counsel regarding an early, reciprocal exchange of witness statements. However, because the Government opposes being compelled to do so and because the statute plainly provides that "no statement or report in the possession of the United States which was made by a Government witness or prospective Government witness (other than the defendant) shall be the subject of subpoena, discovery, or inspection until said witness has testified on direct examination in the trial of the case,” Defendant Kiley’s Motion for Disclosure of Jencks Material (Doc. No. 99), is DENIED. Nothing in this Order precludes the Government, however, from making Jencks Act material available to Defendants three days prior to trial as it customarily does.

7. Defendant Kiley’s Motion for Disclosure of Exhibit List.

Defendant seeks a list of all exhibits the Government intends to introduce at trial, and requests the list to be provided at a minimum of sixty days before trial. The Government opposes the motion, but states that it “will inquire of defense counsel regarding an early, reciprocal exchange of exhibit lists and will remain open to an agreement with counsel concerning an agreement to an earlier, reciprocal exchange.” (Doc. No. 110, Gov’ts Omnibus Response 6.) Fed. R. Crim. P. 16 does not require such disclosure. Therefore, Defendant Kiley’s Motion for Disclosure of Exhibit List (Doc. No. 100) is DENIED. Exhibit lists shall be made in accordance with the District Court’s pretrial order.

8. Defendant Kiley’s Motion for Suppression of Wiretap Evidence, Oral Communications and Other Electronic Eavesdropping. Defendant Kiley requests an order requiring the Government to disclose all logs, records, memoranda, and other documents and recordings to the electronic surveillance or wire-tapping directed against Defendant, and for an order suppressing all evidence derived from electronic surveillance. The Government represents that there was no Title III wiretap employed in this case, and that to the extent any recordings were made, a party to the recordings consented to those recordings. Based on the Government's representations, Defendant Kiley's Motion for Suppression of Wiretap Evidence, Oral Communications and Other Electronic Eavesdropping (Doc. No. 101), is DENIED AS MOOT. This motion will not be referred to the District Court on Report and Recommendation.

9. Defendant Kiley's Motion for Early Discovery of Post

Conspiracy Statement of Co-Defendant. Defendant Kiley moves the Court for an order pursuant to Rule 16 of the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure and Bruton v. United States, 391 U.S. 123 (1968), compelling the Government to give notice and disclosure of its intent to use evidence at trial of statements or confessions of any defendant or co-conspirator, with a designation of which statement or confession the Government plans to utilize, and granting Defendant leave to file motions for severance, suppression, and/or motions in limine. The Government objects, but represents that it will disclose Jencks, Brady, and Giglio material concerning any witnesses it will call in advance of trial and in accordance with the Court's orders, and states that it will work with defense counsel to resolve any Bruton issues. Defendant Kiley's Motion for Early Disclosure of Post Conspiracy Statements of Co-Defendant (Doc. No. 102), is GRANTED IN PART and DENIED IN PART. To the extent that the motion seeks evidence favorable to the Defendant, the statements will be produced pursuant to the Court's Order on various motions seeking exculpatory evidence, impeaching evidence, and evidence otherwise favorable to Defendant. The motion is further GRANTED to the extent that it conforms to the scope of Rule 16, and the Government shall comply with any obligations that may arise under Bruton v. United States, 391 U.S. 123 (1968). The motion is otherwise DENIED. Any motions in limine shall be filed in accordance with the District Court's pretrial order. And the Government may make Jencks Act material available to Defendant three days prior to trial.

10. Defendant Kiley's Motion to Retain Tangible Evidence Rough Notes and Like Materials. Defendant moves for an order requiring any agent to retain and preserve tangible evidence, field notes, memoranda, or other recordings of facts and other information gathered during the investigation of the incidents that led to the indictment in this case. The Government objects only to disclosure of rough notes. Therefore, Defendant Kiley's Motion to Retain Tangible Evidence Rough Notes and Like Materials (Doc. No. 103), is GRANTED to the extent that agents retained such records and evidence while investigating Defendants. The Court makes no determination as to whether these matters are discoverable; therefore, disclosure is not required pursuant to this Order.

11. Defendant Kiley's Motion to Adopt Non-Duplicitous Motions of Co-Defendants. Defendant Kiley moves for permission to join in any and all Co-Defendants' motions that apply to his position in this case. The Government opposes the motion. Defendant Kiley's Motion to Adopt Non-Duplicitous Motions of Co-Defendants (Doc. No. 104), is DENIED. Defendant, however, may file additional motions upon a showing of good cause for untimely filing.

12. Defendant Kiley's Motion to Disclose Informants and Make Available for Interview. Defendant Kiley seeks an order requiring the Government to disclose the identity of any informant or informants used by the Government in its investigation of this matter, whether such individuals were active participants in the offenses charged, whether such individuals are witnesses to the offenses charged, whether law enforcement officials followed internal guidelines in utilizing the individuals, and the results of any suitability study and/or other internal documentations regarding the propriety of using the individuals as informants and/or cooperating witnesses. Defendant also requests that the Government be required to make any such informants available for interview. The Government asserts that it will disclose the identity of the unknown confidential informants and their prior convictions, if any, to Defendant Kiley by the conclusion of the motions hearing. The Government also asserts that it will be the informant's decision as to whether to participate in any pretrial interviews. Defendant Kiley's Motion to Disclose and Make Informants Available for Interview (Doc. No. 112), is therefore GRANTED consistent with the Government's representations. Further, the Government shall make any informant disclosures to the extent such disclosures are required pursuant to Roviaro v. United States, 353 U.S. 53 (1957), and subsequent pertinent case law, and shall continue to provide information as required by Brady, Giglio, and their progeny.
